

DNP 630 : Research and Application of Evidence-Based Practice

Scholarship and research are the hallmarks of doctoral education. This course involves the translation of research into practice through the application, dissemination and integration of new knowledge in complex practice situations characterized by the discovery of new phenomena.

Credits 3